LADY SWIMMERS IN GLASGOW.

[By a Lady Correspondent.]

Our great-grandmothers would probably have opened their eyes in mild amazement at the idea of a ladies' swimming club in their day. Within the last decade, however, we have made rapid strides in education, and perhaps one of the most sensible additions to the revised code of feminine accomplishments at present in force is the art of swimming. It is nearly four years since the Arlington Ladies' Swimming Club was instituted in Glasgow, and the success of the undertaking was amply exemplified in the first competition, which came off on Thursday at the club, in Arlington Street. Referring to the programme, three prizes were on the cards—No. 1, gold cross (club medal); No. 2, silver monogram locket; No. 3, silver monogram locket. The heats, to be decided for graceful performance, were as follows:—

1st. Plunge from diving board.
2d. Plain swimming, one length of pond.
3d. Side stroke.
4th. Back swimming.
5th. Sculling, head first, once across the pond.
6th. Sculling, feet first.

Half-past eleven A.M. was the time fixed for the competition, and punctual to the moment a large and fashionable assemblage completely filled the spacious hall. The invitations were restricted to ladies, and in passing it may be remarked that the opportunity served to display the new winter fashions in gorgeous style. The pond is 70 feet long and 35 feet wide. The temperature of the water (Loch Katrine) being kept at 70 all the year. At each end of the pond is a row of dressing boxes for the swimmers, and hung across the pond are various gymnastic apparatus for the use of the members. The depth of the pond is from 3 ft 6 inches to 7 feet, and it is emptied twice a week. Lighted from the roof, and tastefully decorated with verdant plants, the bath is made to look as inviting as possible to the shrinking novice. But it is past the half hour, and we are all expectation for the fair competitors. There is a little flutter at the door of the dressing boxes, and a head is timidly popped out, and instantly withdrawn. Then a whispered remonstrance from the other side of the door, "Come away now, do; of course it's trying (it is the first appearance in public), but just make up your mind, dear. They are wearying awfully." At this point eight out of the ten "entries" courageously emerge from their hiding places, and step upon the diving board. The lady swimmers are simply dressed in dark and light blue flannel bathing costumes, the wide knickerbocker reaching below the knee, the arms of course bare, the hair simply arranged without any padding. Some wear their rings, but that is the only jewellery permissible. Three ladies (matrons) were toled off for judges; and the swimming master having made the preliminary arrangements, and given the word, the foremost on the board plunged gracefully into the water, quickly followed in close succession by those behind. Before one could draw a breath each rose again, buoyant to the surface. One young lady, however, took a tremendous "header" and didn't come up, nearly frightening us all out of our senses—all, save the master, who stood the personification of confident composure awaiting the issue. The water settled above the spot where the dashing diver had disappeared, and still she made no sign. Where had she gone? Pooh, it was only her fun. Up she came smiling, and just a little flushed with the exertion of her clever feat. Without a moment's loss of time the programme was gone through with an ease and grace that reflected the highest credit on the swimming master, Mr Wilson. The three ladies who won the prizes seemed to be perfectly at home in the water, as they plunged and side-stroked, and sculled. The swimmers exhibited no signs of fatigue at the end of their performance, which occupied about twenty minutes; and some disappointment was felt that some of the more "spirited" feats which they could have treated us with were not gone through. As, for instance, how to hold up a person in the water, to land on a rocky coast in an angry sea, to manage a la Charles Reade's hero and martyr in case of an overturned boat, &c., &c. The performance, however, was certainly a success every way, and if there were no outward demonstration of approval, it was doubtless only because it would not have been comme il faut to "ruff" in five shilling kid gloves. At the end of the ladies' competition (by special request), Mr Wilson, the swimming master, entered the water. He wore skin tights, with a blue flanuel vest dress, which showed off his figure to great advantage. I have not space to enter into a full description of the wonderful feats he performed, but shall simply sum them up with the remarks of an old lady, who, after attentively eyeing him through her gold spectacles, exclaimed, "Preserve us! he was surely made for a fish." At one o'clock Mr Allan, hon. secretary, came to award the prizes, and, in a neat speech, alluded to the satisfactory progress the club was making as regards membership, &c. There had been, he said, some difficulty at the outset to get the use of the pond for the ladies; but this had been managed through his perseverance. There were now 70 lady members, and there seemed to be a growing interest in the art. He hoped that he should be invited in at the next competition time to witness the performance. Mr Wilson states that he has pupils of all ages, from seven years old up to threescore, and it may encourage timorous beginners to know that all that is required for a scientific "header," up to threescore odds at least, is the "pluck" to go into training.

ARLINGTON LADIES' SWIMMING CLUB.—In our Monday's issue we gave a report of the competition of the Gentlemen's Swimming Club, and on Thursday the ladies' first competition took place, in the presence of a large assembly of ladies. Three prizes were offered, consisting of the Club Gold Cross and two handsome silver lockets, with the Club's monogram on each; and after a hard competition, Misses Church, Pettigrew, and Brown were declared to be the winners, and received their prizes from the hands of Mrs F. W. Allan of Catheart Manse. The competition embraced plunge from diving board; plain, side, and back swimming; and sculling head first and then feet first; and the graceful way in which the competitors did their part caused great admiration and enthusiasm from all present. At the close, Mr. Allan, the hon. secretary, gave some interesting statements regarding the progress of the club, now in existence for three years. Last year there were 59 members, 25 of whom were taught swimming. The average daily attendance was 22, while the largest attendance in any one day was 43. This year the membership was considerably increased. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded him for the great interest he had taken in and since the formation of the Ladies' Club. Record 4th Nov 75

SATURDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 6.

ARLINGTON LADIES' SWIMMING CLUB.

The first competition of this club took place on Thursday in the handsome West-End Bath in Arlington Street. A large company of ladies were present, all of whom seemed much interested and pleased with the proceedings. After a keen competition, the judges decided in favour of Misses Church, Pettigrew, and Brown, in the order named; and thereafter Mrs Allan, of Cathcart Manse, wife of the hon. secretary, presented the prizes, which consisted of the gold cross club medal and two handsome silver monogram lockets. The programme consisted of plunging from diving-board; plain, side, and back swimming; also, sculling head first and feet first—special attention in judging being given to graceful performance, rather than quick swimming, and the way in which the competitors performed caused much admiration.

THE ARLINGTON "MERMAIDS."

The strong muster of ladies on Thursday forenoon at the Arlington Swimming Club would seem to indicate that "the art of swimming" is growing in favour as a fashionable branch of education. The Arlington (Ladies') Swimming Club has been four years in existence, and the progress made by the members during that period was amply shown at the second annual competition on Thursday. Since 1872, it was stated, 136 members had been enrolled; out of that number 102 had been taught successfully. There were 72 at present on the roll, and 14 new members had turned out creditable swimmers since May. The programme for Thursday contained some difficult cats, such as—Plunge from diving board; side stroke; sculling head first; sculling feet first, &c.; great interest was manifested in the performance. Punctual to the time (half-past eleven) the lady competitors emerged from their boxes at the head of the pond, draped in scarlet cloaks, bearing a remarkable resemblance to those worn by Glasgow students, to await the master's signal. Under the mantle a tasteful costume of navy blue flannel was worn, and one little lady, who didn't seem above seven or eight years old, with her crisp locks and knatty knickerbockers, looked the beau ideal of a youthful Jack tar. A little shiver ran through the audience as the competitors prepared to take the first plunge on the cold winter morning, but the dashing manner in which the feat was performed at the word of command, made us feel miserable cowards on the brink of the pond, 69 feet long by 35. "Well, that is beautiful," remarked an old lady wiping her eye glass, "and beautifully done," was murmured on every side, as the fair divers came up rosy, and smiling, without the least appearance of effort. The easy manner in which the programme was carried out showed perfect training, and more than a word of praise is due to Mr Robertson for his painstaking endeavours to render the art of swimming a graceful accomplishment, no less than a useful branch of education. It would take up too much space to go into all the details, but everything was so well done it seems hardly possible to make a distinction. Perhaps the most exciting feat of the day was a trial of fast swimming; three lengths of the pond. From the start on to about the middle, the competitors kept pretty close, but at that point, two struck out boldly and kept the lead neck and neck until the second length, when they parted company, and came in separately (almost a second of difference, it appeared). The third length began simultaneously, and amid a breathless silence, the last strokes were watched, when to everybody's amazement, an outsider, who had been quietly reserving her strength, shot past like an arrow, and, with the utmost coolness, distanced the whole, and won the day. The prizes, which were awarded by Mr Allan, hon. secretary to the club, consisted of lockets, brooch, sleeve studs, and bracelets, all in silver, beautifully chased and mounted. One of the prizes—a locket—fell to our little lady "Jack Tar," who by the way took the water like a sea-gull. As the ladies went through their various tasks, one almost felt it was ridiculous not to be able to swim, and some would have joined the mermaids on the spot had the rules of the club allowed, but there is no chance at the Arlington for outsiders, and probably until the School Board see fit to add aquatics to the Educational Code the women who can sink will be legion compared to those who can swim on the roll call of the deep. Before finishing up, Mr Robertson, the club master, gave a specimen of his skill in the water. Fully equipped, he mounted a high ladder and dived from the top into the swimming pond, taking a tremendous header with his hat on. Of course nobody expected to see the hat again, and a hearty laugh went round when it bobbed up, without ever having been displaced apparently or looking any the worse of the ducking. Mr Robertson next swam the length of the pond to show the use of the Leander jacket. Then coming to a halt in deep water, he divested himself of his outer garments as easily as if he were on terra firma. Underneath his ordinary apparel he wore a swimming costume, but the encumberance of dress did not seem to matter, as he dipped, and rolled, and plunged, and somersaulted all in one breath. His marvellous feats, which were much admired, were the more astonishing that Mr Robertson is a self-taught swimmer. His first exploit in the water, when a boy of 14, was to rescue a companion from drowning. After that he "learnt to swim," and to good purpose too, for he has saved ten lives already—the last in August, at Gourock. Charles Reade's Hero and Martyr may look to his laurels. Mr Robertson is only in his twenty-second year.

ARLINGTON LADIES' SWIMMING CLUB. — The second annual competition of the members took place yesterday, and the interest attached to the novel event drew together a large and fashionable assemblage of ladies, who all seemed much delighted with the proceedings, and with the graceful performances of the lady competitors. The competitions embraced races of one, two, and three lengths of the pond, which is about 70 feet in length, also plunging from diving-board, and graceful plain swimming, side stroke, sculling, &c. Mr. Robertson, clubmaster, thereafter dived into the pond from the top of steps, with heavy clothing and his "Leander" vest on, and after removing it and his heavy attire, he showed his power and grace in swimming, receiving the hearty applause of those present. Mr. Allan, the hon. secretary, then made a few remarks, stating that the membership at present is 72, that 136 members had been on the roll since the bath was opened to the ladies four years ago, and of these 102 had been taught to swim. He then presented the prizes to the winners.

ARLINGTON SWIMMING CLUB—LADIES' COMPETITION.

Yesterday forenoon the second competition in connection with the Ladies' Swimming Club was held in the Club Bath, Arlington-street. There was a very large attendance of lady members and their friends. The matches were four in number, and consisted of first, a competition for graceful swimming, including plunge, plain swimming, side-stroke, and sculling; and fast swimming—one, two, and three lengths of the pond. The entries for each of the competitions were numerous, and the swimming—particularly in the first match—was much admired, and showed to what proficiency ladies can attain in the art of natation. At the conclusion of the matches, Mr. Robertson, the club-master, entered the water full-dressed, and his elegant performances were much appreciated. The prizes were afterwards presented by the hon. secretary, Mr. F. W. Allan, who made a few remarks regarding the progress of the Ladies' Club since its formation four years ago, during which time 136 members had altogether been enrolled, 102 of these having been taught swimming. The membership is at present 72. As an indication of the interest which is taken in this club, Mr. Allan mentioned that on one day as many as 43 members had been present, while 22 was the average daily attendance.

ARLINGTON LADIES' SWIMMING CLUB. Yesterday, a large and fashionable assemblage of ladies met in the spacious and beautiful premises in Arlington Street on the occasion of the second annual competition of the members of this club. The competitions embraced graceful swimming, plunging from diving board, sculling, &c., also one, two, and three lengths of the bath, which, we believe, is about 70 feet over all. The graceful manner in which all the competitors swam elicited great admiration from those present, and proved that the youngest girl can be made proficient in the art. The clubmaster, Mr Robertson, after the matches were over, plunged into the pond, fully attired, and showed the powers of the Leander vest; thereafter he removed it and the heavy portion of his clothing while in the water, and proved what a graceful and powerful swimmer he is. His performances were much applauded. The Honorary Secretary, Mr Allan, then presented the prizes to the successful competitors, taking the opportunity of making a few remarks regarding the club, instituted four years ago. Of 136 members who had joined it, 102 had been taught to swim. The present roll is 72, with an average attendance of 22. The club is open to lady relatives of members of the Arlington Swimming Club, the ladies having use on part of three days of the week.

THE LADIES' SWIMMING CLUB.

A lady correspondent sends us the following notes:—The third annual competition of the Arlington Ladies' Swimming Club came off on Thursday, and was perhaps the most successful which has yet taken place; but the growing fastidiousness of the Arlington was conspicuously displayed in the sparseness of the audience upon this occasion. As a matter of course, only ladies were present, with the exception of the judges, F. W. Allan, honorary secretary, Archibald Orr Ewing, Esq., M.P., and Mr R. Dalglish, jun. The programme was, as usual, made up of plunge, plain swimming, sculling, &c., and the easy grace with which the various feats were undertaken and accomplished showed how carefully the young ladies had been trained under their able master (Mr Robertson), who superintended the proceedings. There were a good many entries, and the manner in which the competitors came up smiling after a trial of skill showed that they had mastered the art, and were indeed equal to all that was required of them in the water—from a quiet float on the surface to a terrific header from a diving board jutting out into the deepest part of the pond. Although, of course, some had attained nearer perfection under lengthened tuition, the whole performance was satisfactory—all were excellent swimmers, nd the grace and ease with which each did her part showed marked progress since last year. Several very difficult feats were performed with great neatness. But indeed the Arlington ladies seem as much at home in the water as out of it—floating, gliding, racing, diving in turn, as the case may be, without so much as pausing to take a breath, or giving panting onlookers time to catch themselves up. Passing the elder competitors we come to the children, and the manner in which the "wee things" went through their performance showed that children can be very early trained to manage themselves in the water with perfect confidence. One of the Arlington water babies was only four years old, and one who carried off a prize was "just ten to-day," she said, as she proudly surveyed the pretty silver brooch she had carried off. A little lady caused great amusement by "entering" herself unexpectedly at the last moment, and pluckily dashing after her companions in a swim across the pond. She had only been a few weeks learning to swim, the master said, and everybody expected to see the venturesome little fairy take fright as she felt herself out in the large pond surrounded by water. But no thought of fear had she bravely striking out, with her yellow hair floating around her like an infant Ophelia—on she went, steadily, fearlessly, until she reached the opposite side, keeping up to time, under the master's eye, without the smallest sign of distress, and taking a prize by her indomitable pluck, to her great satisfaction. When the programme was finished, Mr Robertson, by request, went through some of his wonderful feats in swimming. Mounting a high platform, dressed, and in a white mackintosh and hat, he made a dive into the middle of the pond, coming up with his hat on as he went down, and looking as cool after his plunge as if the water were his natural element. By some "hitch" in the proceedings, however, the prizes at this point were awarded, and one of the greatest treats of the occasion — namely, Mr Robertson's unrivalled swimming, was in a manner lost. This gentleman was presented in December last with a gold medal (Rescue Medal) by the West of Scotland Swimming Club for saving a boy's life, the tenth he has been the means of rescuing from a watery grave. But were the art of swimming made as easy to all as it seems to be at the Arlington Swimming Club, those who get into deep water might be able to "paddle their own canoe;" at least there would be less cry of "Ho! to the rescue." Besides the gracefulness of tho accomplishment for young ladies, the art of swimming is becoming daily of more importance in all classes of society. It only remains for some social benefactor to set about a swimming club for school girls and young women on a broader principle than that of the Arlington, where a healthful and important accomplishment might be made popular and brought into common use, under proper direction and management.

MONDAY AFTERNOON, MARCH 31, 1879.

ARLINGTON LADIES' SWIMMING CLUB.

On Saturday forenoon the fourth annual swimming competition of this club took place in the Arlington Baths. The interest manifested in this aquatic exhibition was shown in the large attendance, every foot of available space for witnessing the competition having been completely crowded with the relatives and lady friends of the members. There were seven matches in all, the distances being of course regulated by the age and proficiency of the young ladies. Of these, three races were for little girls taught within the past few months, and these competitions supplied remarkable evidence of the facility with which children can acquire the useful and healthful exercise of swimming. The prizes consisted of a handsome selection of silver ornaments contributed by the Club and a few warm friends. The result of the different competitions was regarded by the spectators with apparently great keenness and amusement, while in the "Graceful Swimming Match" the evolutions of two of the older members elicited the hearty admiration of all present. Mrs Macbrayne, of Lilybank House, presented the prizes to the successful competitors. At the close Mr. F. W. Allan, honorary secretary, who was the one favoured gentleman permitted to witness the performances, made a few remarks on the progress of the club, which has now been in existence for seven years. During that period there have been 471 members enrolled, giving an annual average of 67. The first year there were only 35, while this year the membership had increased to 150. During the past three years great progress, he further observed, had been made by the members in the accomplishment of swimming. This result was to be attributed to the intelligent tuition of Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, and he called for a vote of thanks to them, which was at once accorded by the audience. Mr. Allan also referred, in a few sentences, to the desirability of swimming being made an essential part of education. As an illustration of what could be done by the fair sex, he mentioned that a member of the Ladies' Club had swam no fewer than 80 lengths of the bath, the distance being about 80 yards over a mile.

MONDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 11.

ARLINGTON SWIMMING CLUB.—The seventh competition in connection with the Ladies' Club took place on Saturday. Twenty-four competitors entered for the various events, which were mainly confined to graceful swimming. The manner in which the ladies and younger girls took the water and displayed their skill in plain swimming, as well as in the more difficult side and overhand strokes, sculling, and floating, excited the admiration of those present. A hurdle race and an aquatic Derby afforded much amusement, whilst the performance by the club-master (Mr R. A. Robertson) on the trapeze and travelling rings proved a very clever one. Before the presentation of the prizes by Mrs Stevenson, Mr F. W. Allan, hon. secretary of the Ladies' Club, made some remarks as to the value of swimming as a necessary part of education, and drew attention to the fact that as a rule ladies practise the art much more gracefully than gentlemen. The prizes were won as follows :—

Graceful swimming (Ladies' Gold Challenge Medal), long plunge, plain swimming, side stroke, overhand stroke, back swimming, sculling feet first, sculling head first, floating—1st, Dora Taylor; 2d, Florence Russell.

Graceful swimming, girls under fifteen (same tests as above)—First Silver Challenge Medal—1st, Annie Russell; 2d, E. Sandeman.

Graceful swimming, girls under thirteen (long plunge, plain swimming, side stroke, back swimming, floating)—Second Silver Challenge Medal—1st, A. Leishman; 2d, Bessie Steven.

Graceful swimming, girls under ten (long plunge, plain swimming, back swimming, floating)—Third Silver Challenge Medal—1st, Katie Legatt; 2d, Jeannie Steven.

Hurdle race, two lengths—1st, P. Steel; 2d, Mary Younger.

On Friday night a novel "Soiree Nageante" took place in the baths, ladies being invited to witness a series of races and exhibitions of graceful swimming by the gentlemen members of the club in costume. There was a large attendance, and the entertainment proved such a decided success that it is likely to be repeated on some future occasion. In the course of the evening the medal presented by Bailie

The largest number of members present any day was 83. Since the appointment of Mr Robertson as bathmaster there has been a steady increase of membership, and his management has given every satisfaction. These are to be competed for monthly and held by the winners, while at the end of each year prizes will be given to those who hold them longest. ARLINGTON LADIES' CLUB.—Within the club's premises on Saturday forenoon a competition among the junior members of the club took place. The contests were five in number, as follow:—One length, beginners; two lengths, girls under 12; two lengths hurdle race; four lengths race; and one lengths clothes race. The entries in the two former were numerous, and the contests had to be decided in heats, the final in the beginners' race being so close and exciting that the hon. secretary, Mr F. W. Allan, presented the third and fourth in the final heat with a prize. The clothes race proved a most exciting contest, and, considering the age of the competitors, exhibited great confidence on the part of the girls, who afterwards gave a good display of floating. At the close the prizes were presented by Mrs Watson, to whom, along with the judges—Mrs C. Russell, Mrs R. Percy, and Mr F. W. Allan, hon. secretary—a hearty vote of thanks was accorded. In connection with this club it may be added that the hon. secretary presented some two years ago two beautiful silver medals with necklets attached, and these medals are competed for monthly by girls under 10 and 12 years of age. They are called "dux medals," and the competition to hold a dux medal among the children during the past year has been very great.

LADIES' COMPETITION AT ARLINGTON BATHS.—On Saturday forenoon a swimming and diving competition was held in the Arlington Baths by members of the ladies' club. The large bath-room was well filled with ladies, and a few privileged gentlemen were also present. The entertainment was varied and thoroughly interesting. A heavy programme was submitted, which included two events not previously tried on this side the border. These were diving through a ring placed in the water, and dive and catch "cork." The latter is quite new here, though ring diving is often practised among the males. The dive and catch cork brought out fifteen competitors, and out of the lot only three were successful in the first try, and these had to dive three times before the victor was decided. The Invitation Race was a good affair, and the graceful swimming was a treat. Mr F. W. Allan presided. Judges—Mrs Charles Russell, Mrs Robert Perry, and Miss Alice Finlay. Starter—Mr R. A. Robertson, club-master. Results :— Six lengths' Invitation Race — Western Baths v. Arlington Ladies' Club—1st, K. Campbell, Arlington; 2d, H. Perry, Arlington; 3d, Connie M'Gregor, Western. Won by a yard; almost a dead heat for second prize. Travelling ring competition—1st, N. Campbell; 2d, H. Bost. Two lengths fast swimming handicap—Final heat—1st, F. Cromhie, 4sec.; 2d, S. Young, 10sec. Two lengths fast swimming hurdle race—1st, K. Campbell; 2d, A. Holmes; won easily. Dive and catch cork—1st, J. M'Nicol; 2d, H. Perry. Mrs Ker presented the prizes.

ARLINGTON LADIES' CLUB COMPETITIONS.—In this club, which was formed so long ago as May, 1872, the aquatic races, &c., that took place every year immediately before the coasting season begins were held on Saturday. Major F. W. Allan presided. Results—Inter-Club Race, Western Baths v. Arlington Club; distance, 140 yards; three prizes—1, Miss Kate Campbell (Arlington Club); 2, Miss Hilda Perry (Arlington Club); 3, Miss Connie M'Gregor (Western Baths). Travelling Rings Competition—1, Miss Nelly Campbell; 2, Miss H. Bost; 3, Miss G. Reid. Two Lengths of Pond Race, handicapped; three prizes.—Final Heat—1, Miss Frances Crombie, 4 secs; 2, Miss Anna Anderson, 8 secs; 3, Miss J. Anderson, 6 secs; 14 swam. Graceful Diving—1, Miss J. M'Nicol; 2, Miss J. Steven. Juniors' Race—1, Miss M. Izat; 2, Miss A. Craig; 3, Miss Ada Anderson. Graceful Swimming—1, Miss L. Ker; 2, Miss N. Campbell; 3, Miss G. Reid. 100 Yards Fast Swimming Handicap.—First Heat—1, Miss Anna Holms; 2, Miss N. Young. Second Heat—1, Miss H. Bost; 2, Miss L. Ker. Final Heat—1, Miss Anna Holms, 4 secs; 2, Miss H. Bost, scratch; 3, Miss N. Young, 10 secs. Fifty Yards Fast Swimming Hurdle Race—1, Miss K. Campbell; 2, Miss A. Holms; 3, Miss H. Bost. Dive and Catch Cork—This was a most exciting contest, and several of the young ladies had to try no fewer than four times in order that the judges might arrive at a decision. Ultimately the winners were placed—1, Miss J. M'Nicol; 2, Miss Hilda Perry; 3, Miss E. Perry. The judges were Mrs Charles Russell, Mrs Robert Perry, and Miss Alice Finlay. Mr R. A. Robertson, clubmaster, was referee.

THE EVENING TIMES.

SATURDAY, MAY 4, 1889.

LADIES' COMPETITION AT ARLINGTON BATHS.—As a fitting conclusion to the excellent entertainment held [illegible] among the male members of the Arlington Swimming Club, the ladies' competition took place this forenoon. A more interesting programme has not been issued in the West of Scotland: and several novelties were introduced which have never been attempted north of the Tweed. These were graceful diving through ring and dive and catch cork. This was the event of the gala. A cork was thrown into the water, and the swimmer had to dive and catch it. This was great fun. Most of the competitors misjudged the distance, and were either short or overshot the mark, and fell heavy on the face or breast. One of the ladies, however—Miss Neil—was an adept at the business. She dived with both hands joined in front in the orthodox fashion, and was almost invariably successful. The six lengths invitation 140 yards race—Western v. Arlington Ladies' Clubs—was another feature. The crack swimmers from each club competed, and more interest was taken in this event than is usual, as it was the first occasion on which members from the respective Baths had met in friendly rivalry. Proceedings were well conducted, and the large programme was got through with Mr Robertson's usual [illegible] tude. Major F. W. Allan, hon. secretary, occupied the chair. Officials:—Judges—Mrs Charles Russell, Mrs Robert Perry, and Miss Alice Finlay: starter, Mr R. A. Robertson, clubmaster. A good arrangement on Mr Robertson's part was the starting of the races from either end of the Bath alternately, so that all could see the start and finish in turn.

The annual competitions of the Glasgow Arlington Ladies' Baths Club, held on Saturday, was one of those select galas at which the fashionably subdued hum of approval embodied the more loudly or pronounced demonstration of cheers and clapping of hands so indigenous to the ordinary gala attendances. The chairman, Mr. Robert Dalglish, son of the late M.P. for Glasgow, is one of the most enthusiastic lovers of swimming, and he it was, with one or two kindred spirits, who, some 26 years ago, originated the private baths scheme, which has been copied in so many parts of the country, and has done so much to interest the upper ten in the natatorial art and conserve what should be the pure amateur ideas of sport.
